Viewing images for jurying

As images will be viewed on a computer monitor, the width of your image should be a minimum of 1500 pixels. Anywhere between 1500 and 1900 pixels will work well. Your height of your image should be at least 1000 pixels.

A file of between 500 KB and 2,000 KB (2MB) is recommended.

Taking photos of your work

First you will need to take a photo of your artwork with either a digital camera or with a phone if you have one with a good camera resolution (min 8MB).

Take a photo with your work as straight-on as possible. Avoid angles which will distort the image. Your images may have to be corrected using an image editing app on your device or computer. An app can also be used to crop, edit the file size and filename. At this time you can do colour and tonal corrections of the image(s).

An image that is larger than necessary will take a long time to upload and won't look any better on the screen.

When you have an image open in a photo editing program, go to the Image size information and check to see the height and width in pixels of the image, meets the above criteria in height and width. Then you can save the image as a jpg at the highest setting.
